The Sansui sound seems to be there and it sounds good with a deep rich sound that has made Sansui famous. It's also nicely powered with 65 watts per channel. The only bummer is the plastic side panels, which was a turn off for me when I first looked at this amp. But it looks great on the shelf and sounds great too.

Overall, I'd say the Sansui 9090 receiver is a great great stereo. This product is from about 1976 or 1977, the bulbs behind the tuner screen might be burned out, if so, take them to a fix-it shop, it will probably be over 15$, but it will help you see the screen a lot better. The screen is a dark color, it is hard to see with low light.

In 1986, Sansui introduced the seventh generation of the 07 Series, AU-Alpha907, that added a Greek character "Alfa" just before the three numeric digits for the model numbers. The reason being is that Sansui adopted the balanced input circuitry, and they called this, "Alfa-X Balanced Circuit."
